Anti-War Medals

One hundred and twenty-five artists make medals to express their feelings about war. These potent and thought-provoking medallions offer a humanistic and political commentary. This is part of an exhibition that has traveled to seven foreign venues, and this is only the third venue in the United States. In collaboration with Velvet da Vinci Gallery (San Francisco) and Thomas Mann Gallery I/O (New Orleans).

Spoils

Ten amazing jewelers offer their work in support of the Society of North American Goldsmiths. A portion of the proceeds will be given to this organization that promotes excellence in the jewelry and metalsmithing arts.
